

British Get All Flying Privileges In German Lands

LONDON, July 29. (By International News Service.)—By virtue of the provisions of the new treaty between Germany and England, British aircraft have full privilege of passage over and landing in this territory, and territorial waters of the former country and enjoy all the rights of German machines.

This is the announcement made by the air ministry. It adds that, in addition, British aircraft can enjoy the right to fly over German territory without landing and that all German air-dromes open to national public traffic are also open for British aircraft. All regulations made for the control of British aircraft—and charges—must be on an equality for allied machines with the Germans.

Other provisions are that for six months after the coming into force of the peace treaty the manufacture and importation of aircraft and their parts is forbidden in Germany, it is until July 19 of this year that the armed forces of Germany must not include any military or naval air force; that all military and naval aeronautical material must be delivered up to the allies and that no dirigible is to be kept.

Germany undertakes to enforce the necessary measures to insure that all German aircraft flying over her territory shall comply with the rules as to lights and signals.

YE TOWNE GOSSIP BY K.C.B.

Newport, R. I.
Some Time in July.

WE ARRIVED here.
ON A ferry boat.
ON SUNDAY morning.
AND LEAVING the ferry.
A GUIDE grabbed us.
AND WE let him in.
AND HE made a speech.
AND ADDED:
"IF YOU'll turn to the right.
"AT THE next corner."
AND I did.
AND AFTER that.
FOR AN hour.
WE DROVE along.
PAST big gates.
AND STONE fences.
AND IRON fences.
AND VANDERBILTS.
AND ASTORS.
AND PAYNE Whitneys.
AND AUGUST Belmonts.
AND DREXELS.
AND MORGANS.
AND CLARKS.
AND GOULDS.
AND GOBELTS.
AND T. Sufferin Tailor.
AND THE last name.
IT SEEMED to me.
THAT THE guide liked it.
AND THE way he said it.

IT SOUNDED profane.
AND HE kept saying it.
AND HE said it.
WITH AN exclamation point.
AND ON the way.
IT BEGAN to rain.
AND THE guide said.
IT WOULD kill his business.
FOR THE day.
AND A bad Sunday.
MEANT A big loss.
TO ALL of the guides.
AND JUST then.
HE POINTED again.
AND SAID:
"THERE'S ANOTHER view.
"OF THE residence.
"OF T. Sufferin Tailor."
AND ANYWAY.
WE LEFT Newport.
AND THREE hours later.
WERE BOWLING along.
AND A wheel went flat.
AND I stopped.
AND EXCLAIMED:
"T. SUFFERIN Tailor!"
AND GOT out.
AND FIXED it.
I THANK you.

Men may guess how a woman manages to get into this year's evening gown—but it will always be a deep mystery to them how she manages to keep it on.
